What we use your data for

The TRUMPF Group stores and processes the personal data you provide, in particular professional contact data, for the purpose of processing your order.

We also process your personal data for comparison with sanctions lists. This involves comparing your name with publicly accessible sanctions lists. We carry out the comparison on the basis of our legitimate interest (for customers based in the EU: Art. 6 para. 1 (f) GDPR). Our legitimate interests consist of ensuring that TRUMPF does not conduct business with persons who are named on a sanctions list.

Forwarding of data

The data of the data subjects are made accessible to IT service providers within the scope of maintenance as well as to other companies within and outside the TRUMPF group for supporting services, insofar as it is necessary for answering enquiries or providing support, passing on the data to other TRUMPF companies or retailers. The check of the sanctions lists for TRUMPF is provided by a specialised service provider.

In exceptional cases, your data may be transferred to companies based in a third country where there is no equal level of data protection as in the EU. TRUMPF ensures the security of your data on the basis of contractually assured guarantees and with technical and organisational measures.

How long we store your data

If no contract is concluded, the data of the data subjects will be stored for as long as mutual interest in a business relationship is apparent.
